During the Year 1901

MESSRS. HARPER & BROTHERS

Will Publish ONCE EVERY MONTH

An American Novel by an American Author

These twelve novels will be for the most part by new writers, by men and women of modern ideas, youthful vigor, and fresh imagination. In scene and character they will be representative of conditions in every part of the country.

They will be carefully edited and chosen each with a view to distinct literary merit.

The first novel of the series, to be published in January, is

EASTOVER COURT HOUSE

By KENNETH BROWN

This story gives a vivid picture of rural life of to-day in Virginia. It is the work of a writer thoroughly familiar with the country and its people.

The novels will all be Post 8vo size and will retail for $1.50 each

To the Intelligent Bookseller

(THE PRESENT READER OF COURSE)

A BOOKSELLER'S interests are furthered by any thing which creates or fosters the spirit of book collecting. Every new collector made is a source of income to one or more booksellers, and the intelligent dealer will take some pains to create a possible new customer.

No easier way to get a man interested in books or the collection of historical material exists than to induce him to subscribe to

The Literary Collector

It tells him all about the English and American book and autograph sales and the complete doings of the old book-world. The subscription price is One Dollar per annum, Ten Cents the copy, published monthly. It is written by collectors for collectors, and is absolutely indispensable to every buyer of books and autographs.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS (Henry Frowde,) is about to publish an "Anthology of French Poetry," from the tenth to the nineteenth centuries, translated by Henry Carrington, Dean of Bocking.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish early in January a story entitled "The Devil's Plough," by Anna Farquhar, who will probably be better known by her pseudonym Margaret Allston, or as the author of "Her Boston Experiences," which is now in its fourth edition. The scene of "The Devil's Plough" is laid in France and Canada.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish shortly a new and cheaper edition of the life of Henrietta, daughter of Charles I. and Duchess of Orleans, under the title of "Madame," by Julia Cartwright (Mrs. Henry Ady). The London Spectator says, "We have nothing but praise for the way Miss Cartwright has done her work." The book is illustrated with halftone and photogravure illustrations.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have just published a volume of sermons on Shakespeare, edited by the Rev. George Arbuthnot, Vicar of Stratford-on-Avon; "Stray Thoughts on Character," by Lucy H. M. Soulsby; "A Critical Examination of Irish History, from the Elizabethan Conquest to the Legislative Union of 1800," by T. Dunbar Ingram; a new edition, enlarged and revised in text and illustrations, of Ashton Rollins Willard's "History of Modern Italian Art"; also, "The Book of the London International Chess Congress, 1889."

HARPER & BROTHERS announce that during the coming year they will publish once a month an American novel by an American author—for the most part by new writers, men and women of modern ideas, youthful vigor and fresh imagination. In scene and character these twelve stories will be representative of conditions in every part of the country. The first of the series, to be published early in January, will be "Eastover-Court House," by Kenneth Brown, a vivid picture of rural life of to-day in Virginia, by a writer thoroughly familiar with the country and its people.

BRENTANO'S announce an unexpectedly large sale for their edition of Rostand's "L'Aiglon," in French, of which, as already announced, they have the sole control in this country. In view of Sarah Bernhardt's appearance in the title rôle, on the stage in most large cities in this country, it is likely that the book in the original will be in demand for some time. They also call attention to their authorized edition of "The Romance of L'Aiglon," translated from the French of Carolus. This must not be confused with Rostand's play, but it will be of interest to those who anticipate seeing the performance.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish at once "Libyan Notes," a work on anthropology which is the result of an expedition to Algeria undertaken in 1900 by David Randall-Maciver, Laycock Student of Ægyptology at Worcester College, Oxford, and Anthony Wilkins. The object of the expedition was to establish if possible any trace of a connection between the Berber tribes and Egypt—a trace finally discovered in the pottery of the Kabyles—but incidentally the writers undertook and recorded a general investigation of the indigenous white race of Northern Africa known to Rome as the Numidians, Gœtulians or Mauri—who figure as a white race on Egyptian monuments as far back probably as 1300 B.C.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo; 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Abbey, H: Phaëthon; with three other stories in verse and a prose contention. Kingston, N. Y., Styles & Kiersted, 1900. c. 2-126 p. S. cl.

Addison, Jos. Sir Roger de Coverley papers. from the Spectator; ed. for school use by Laura J. Wylie. N. Y., Globe School Book Co., [1900.] c. 47+207 p. por. 12°, (English classics, star ser.) cl., 35 c.

Aiken, C: Francis. The Dhamma of Gotama the Buddha and the Gospel of Jesus the Christ: a critical inquiry into the alleged relations of Buddhism with primitive Christianity. Bost., Marlier & Co., 1900. c. 16+348 p. D. cl., $1.50.

This work is partly the outcome of a series of lectures on Buddhism delivered by Prof. Aiken in the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C. It has been written to meet a want keenly felt in the field of Christian apologetics. "The specious attempts," the author says, "to lay the gospels under obligation to Buddhist teaching have shaken the faith of not a few Christians. The need of a thorough refutation is imperative."

Alger, Horatio, jr. Falling in with fortune; or, the experiences of a young secretary; completed by Arthur M. Winfield. N. Y., Mershon Co., [1900.] c. 6+282 p. pl. D. cl., $1.25.

Englishwoman's (an) love-letters. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1900. 322 p. D. cl., net, $1.50.
The record of an Englishwoman's love contained in a series of nearly a hundred letters. Over half of them were written during the height of her happiness—the remainder, covering the short period of her mysterious alienation from her betrothed up to the time of her death, were found and sent to him. They have been given in their entirety save that, for the sake of privacy, the names of persons and localities have been altered, and a few notes omitted. Aside from these they stand as they were written.

Garner, R. L. Apes and monkeys, their life and language; introd. by E: Everett Hale. Bost., Ginn, 1900. c. 13+297 p. il. por. D. cl., $2.

"This volume is the natural product of many years devoted by the author to studying the speech and habits of monkeys. That naturally led him up to the study of the great apes. The matter is chiefly a record of the tabulated facts gleaned from his special field of research. The aim in view is to convey to the casual reader a more correct idea than now prevails concerning the physical, mental and social habits of apes and monkeys and to prepare him for a wider appreciation of animals in general."—Preface.

Helps, Sir Arthur. The Spanish conquest of America and its relation to the history of slavery and the government of Colonies. New ed.; ed. with introd. and notes by M. Oppenheim. In 4 v. v. 1. N. Y., J: Lane, 1900. 30+369 p. maps, D. cl., $1.50.

This work was first published about forty-five years ago. In preparing this edition the editor has not felt himself at liberty to interfere with the text as left by the author, except in the correction of a few obvious misprints or doubtful forms of Spanish expressions. But the original notes having been mostly printed in the language—Spanish, Latin, French, or Italian—of the writer quoted, and being therefore useless to many readers, are now translated, unless Sir Arthur Helps has himself translated them in his narrative in which case only the authority is given in the footnote. All the notes by Sir Arthur Helps have been retained, and those by the present editor are enclosed within square brackets.

In 1898 and 1899 the author was in China, under retainer of an American syndicate to examine, survey, and report on an extensive railway enterprise, and the duties connected with his professional work placed him in an exceptional position to study and observe this interesting country and its people from quite a different point of view from that taken by other writers. The journey was chiefly through Hu-nau, a little-known province of China. He gives his impressions of the people and the country from the standpoint of industrial development as it exists at present and along the lines it is likely to follow in the future.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

DECEMBER 22, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

THE PROGRESS OF THE PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION has now secured promise of co-operation from practically all the leading publishers of the country, most of them having already become signatories to the constitution which we print in full elsewhere. This constitution is not in itself significant of the lines of action, but only a charter basis for a body which may legally carry out the purposes of the preamble in such methods of application as may hereafter be decided upon. It is not expected that any decisive steps will be taken until after a meeting of the Association some time in January; but it is hoped that a new basis for trade action will be put in practical operation for the spring.

It is not possible at the present writing to indicate what the line of action is likely to be, but some things may be considered certainties. The publishers do not intend to make the movement a basis for increasing the price of books as sold by them, and will profit only as a better distributing system increases their total sales. The movement will be based on a full recognition of this point: that the advertised prices of books are no longer fact but fiction, and that they work to the disadvantage of the public as well as the trade by enabling some purchasers to get the better of others on articles which ought to be of standard price. This idea of an actual standard price, on which the whole business of book-dealing is based, has been adopted in later years by manufacturers of, and dealers in, a number of patented or trademark articles, to the entire advantage of the public, while the very trade which originally put forward this business basis has gradually departed from it. The present movement, therefore, is in line both with the original plans of the publishing trade, and with the present plans of the best houses dealing in legally-protected articles, in which enumeration books are properly to be classified from the business point of view. It will be seen that this reasoning applies specifically to copyright books where the author, or the publisher as his agent, is entitled to place his wares before the public on a definite basis in which the competition is rather with quality than with price. No article of the sort can be sold unless it is put at a price which takes in view the conditions of the public demand, nor are books any exception to this rule. The whole basis of the publishing and bookselling business is in producing a good book at a fair price. This is the aim which all publishers, individually as well as collectively, must set before themselves. Naturally there will be no reason to apply this principle to the classes of books which are not proprietary, i. e., the rival editions of authors out of copyright, which are sold with reference to mere cost of paper and print, since the elements of publisher's risk and of author's remuneration have both dropped out of consideration in such cases.

There is fair question whether the net system should begin with all new copyright books or should be restricted to certain specified lines until the machinery is fully in operation. The latter method would be simply a natural extension of the present net system and apparently would not be as satisfactory to the retail trade as the wider plan, which, on the other hand, would be more difficult to carry out. The retailers, both individually and through the representatives of the Association now in process of formation, as well as many of the department stores, have expressed themselves as ready to join in a general plan for the good of the trade, which keeps in view also the interests of the customer; and there is good reason to hope that 1901 will prove a turning point in this, as in other countries, in the history of the book trade.

AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE PREPARATION OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION.

NEW YORK, November 8, 1900.

Charles Scribner, Esq., President:

At the meeting held on the 25th day of July, 1900, the chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of three to draft articles of association upon the lines then proposed for submission to each of the publishing houses invited to said meeting, with the understanding that if a majority thereof approve of the articles as presented the association shall be formed.

In pursuance of the power so conferred upon the chairman, the undersigned were by him appointed such committee, and now have to make the following report.

The general plan and objects of the association having been indicated at the meeting aforesaid, the first question presented for the consideration of the committee was the nature of the proposed association: whether it should be an unincorporated body or incorporated under the laws of the State as a membership corporation. There were certain advantages in favor of each plan.

An unincorporated association, not being the creature of the legislature, is unhampered and unrestricted, and as free from outside interference and espionage as a co-partnership.

There was an essential advantage in favor of the unincorporated association, in that firms and corporations were eligible to membership as well as individuals.

The contract of association thus would establish a direct and enforcible relation over the members whether corporations or otherwise.

To the mind of the committee, however, the great objection to this was the possible personal liability of the members as co-partners.

The objects of the association not being to acquire property nor to make money for itself, no property of any substantial amount would be acquired by the association.

In the event of actions against the association as such, there would be no property to satisfy any judgments which might be recovered.

This condition might result in actions against the members individually, who, upon payment, would be entitled to contribution from the others, which would lead to much complication and difficulty if not impossibility of adjustment.

Organized as a membership corporation, the fundamental objection is that corporations engaged in the business, and entitled in other respects to membership in an association, are prohibited by the statute from becoming incorporators and members of other corporations. The result of this is to prevent the establishment of a direct and enforcible relation between the association and such concerns as may be corporations.

This control may practically be effected through the officers of the corporations who may be members of the association. On the other hand, its distinct advantage is the non-liability of its members; this we believe to more than offset any disadvantage there may be in incorporating.

Whatever personal liability there may be is imposed upon the directors, who are liable for any contract incurred while they were directors, and payable within one year.

The only further obligations imposed by the statute are:

The making of an annual report, which must be verified by the president and treasurer, and is to show the amount of real and personal property of the corporation, where located and how invested, amount acquired and expended during the past year, and how many members have been admitted in the same period.

This report is not made public, but is filed with the other records of the association.

Considering the objects of the association and its practical working, the committee are of the opinion that the association should be incorporated, and present herewith the form of the articles of incorporation. By-laws under which the corporation should be managed are also herewith submitted. These have been prepared after due consideration to meet the requirements of the association so far as they may be determined at this time.

For convenience in organizing, the committee recommend that the directors elected at the meeting of July 25, 1900, act as incorporators, the remaining members to be elected at the first meeting after organization.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION.

We, the undersigned, all being persons of full age, at least two-thirds of whom are citizens of the United States, and one of whom is a resident of the State of New York, desiring to form a corporation pursuant to Article I. of the Membership Corporation Law, do hereby make, sign, acknowledge, and file this certificate for such purposes, as follows:

First: The name of the proposed corporation is the American Publishers' Association.

Second: The particular objects for which the corporation is to be formed is to advance the interests of the book publishing business; to foster the trade and commerce of said business and the interests of those engaged therein and in its allied trades and professions; to reform abuses relative to said business; to secure freedom from unjust or unlawful exactions; to diffuse accurate and reliable information as to the standing of merchants and other matters; to procure uniformity and certainty in the customs and usages of the trade and commerce of book publishing; to settle differences between its members and between them and others carrying on business with its members, and to promote a more enlarged and friendly intercourse in the trade and between business men generally; to provide and establish rules and regulations tending to promote the best interests of its members.

Third: The principal office of the corporation is to be located in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York.

Fourth: The number of its directors shall be nine.

Fifth: The names and places of residence of the persons to be its directors until the first annual meeting are as follows:

Charles Scribner, Manhattan Borough, New York City; George Mifflin, Boston, Mass.; George P. Brett, Darien, Conn.; G. B. M. Harvey, Manhattan Borough, New York City: A. C. McClurg, Chicago, Ill.; Craig Lippincott, Philadelphia, Pa.; Daniel Appleton, Manhattan Borough, New York City; Frank H. Scott, Orange, N. J.; Frank H. Dodd, Manhattan Borough, New York City.

Sixth: The time for holding its annual meetings shall be on the second Wednesday of January of each year beginning January 9th, 1901.

In witness whereof we have made, signed, acknowledged, and filed this certificate in duplicate.

Dated this day of 1900.

BY-LAWS.

In order to protect and benefit the book publishing trade, as well as its allied trades and professions, and to obtain unanimity of purpose and concentration of action, the members hereof have adopted and hereby adopt the following by-laws of this Association.

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. Name. The name of this Association shall be THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Section 2. Objects. The objects of this Association shall be to advance the interests of the book publishing business; to foster the trade and commerce of said business and the interests of those engaged therein and in its allied trades and professions; to reform abuses relative to said business; to secure freedom from unjust or unlawful exactions; to diffuse accurate and reliable information as to the standing of merchants and other matters; to procure uniformity and certainty in the customs and usages of the trade and commerce of book publishing; to settle differences between its members and between them and others carrying on business with its members, and to promote a more enlarged and friendly intercourse in the trade and between business men generally; to provide and establish rules and regulations tending to promote the best interests of its members.

Section 3. Duration. The Association hereby formed shall continue in full force and effect for and during the term of fifty years from and after the first day of January, 1901, unless sooner dissolved by law or a vote of the Association, as hereinafter provided; or unless the same shall be continued for a longer period, as also hereinafter provided.

Proviso. It being agreed, nevertheless, that each or any member, after giving notice to President and Secretary in writing of intention to withdraw ten days before date of withdrawal, shall have the privilege to withdraw from the Association upon payment and satisfaction of his share of the expenses of the Association to that time incurred, as the same may be found and determined by the Board of Directors, whose action in this respect shall be final and conclusive.

Any withdrawal, however, under this article shall not affect the obligation of the remaining members to the Association or to each other.

Any member withdrawing under the foregoing provision may re-apply for membership as hereinafter provided, but it shall require a three-fourths vote of the Charter members to re-elect such candidate.

Dissolution. By a three-fourths vote of the Charter members of the Association at a meeting called for that purpose, this Association may be dissolved before the time limited herein shall have expired, and upon any dissolution the Board of Directors is hereby vested with the right and power to adjust, settle up, and liquidate the business and affairs of the Association.

ARTICLE II.

Section 1. Business of Association. How Managed. The property, business, and management of the affairs of this Association shall be vested in a Board of Directors, which shall consist of nine Charter members, selected as herein provided, which said Board shall have power to make rules, regulations, and by-laws for the government and regulation of the business of the Association; but no rule or regulation affecting the business of members as business men shall be operative unless it first receive the approval at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of a majority thereof, and unless it receive the approval of the majority of the Charter members of the Association at a regular meeting thereof, or at a special meeting called for the purpose. Members not present at such meetings may express by letter approval or disapproval of any measure proposed with the same force and effect as if personally present and voting. After the first year, at each annual meeting of the members of the Association, three members shall be elected from the Charter members to serve upon said Board of Directors for three years from said date of election, to take the places of the members of said Board whose term then expires. The Board of Directors may make such regulations as to the manner of holding such election as to it may seem best. Any action of the Association or of the Board of Directors affecting the business of its members or involving the expenditure or liability of over $500 shall not become operative until one week after the Secretary shall have posted to each Charter member notice of such action.

Section 2. Board of Directors. First Year. The Board of Directors for the first three years shall be constituted as follows: Charles Scribner, George Mifflin, George P. Brett, G. B. M. Harvey, Gen. A. C. McClurg, Craig Lippincott, Col. Daniel Appleton, Frank H. Scott, and Frank H. Dodd.

Section 3. Resignation of First and Second Year Members. The Directors shall, before the annual meeting, to be held in January, 1902, arrange the Board of Directors above named into three classes. The term of office of the first class shall expire at the time of the first annual meeting; of the second class, at the time of the second; and of the third class, at the time of the third annual meeting. The classification as above shall be made by lot in such manner as the Board may determine, and the places so made vacant shall be filled for the full term of three years, as above provided.

Section 4. Termination of Office. Any Charter member who at the time of his election shall have been a member of a co-partnership, or corporation engaged in the business of book publishing, or individually so engaged, and subsequently thereto shall have ceased to be a partner in said firm or an officer in said corporation, or ceased to be engaged in the book publishing business on his own behalf, from thenceforth shall have no further right to sit as a member of the Board of Directors, and the vacancy thus created shall be filled as hereinafter provided.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1. Officers. The officers of the Association shall consist of a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, who shall be elected by the Board of Directors from among their number immediately after the annual meeting of the Association and election of members to the Board of Directors. They shall hold office for one year, and until their successors shall have been elected.

Section 2. Officers for First Year. The officers of the Association for the first year, and until their successors have been elected, as herein provided, shall be as follows:

President, Charles Scribner; First Vice-President, A. C. McClurg; Second Vice-President, George Mifflin; Treasurer, G. B. M. Harvey; Secretary, George P. Brett.

Section 3. Duties of President. The President shall preside at all meetings of the Association and of the Board of Directors, sign and execute all contracts in the name of the Association, when authorized so to do by the Board of Directors; countersign all checks drawn by the Treasurer; appoint and discharge agents and employees, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, and, when authorized by the Board of Directors, take in the name of the Association, or otherwise, such action to enforce the rights of the Association and of its members, as may be necessary and appropriate.

Section 4. Of First Vice-President. The First Vice-President shall, in the absence or incapacity of the President, perform the duties of that officer.

Section 5. Of Second Vice-President. The Second Vice-President shall, in the absence or incapacity of the President and First Vice-President, perform the duties of the President.

Section 6. Of Treasurer. The Treasurer shall have the care and custody of all funds and securities of the Association and deposit the same in the name of the Association in such bank or banks as the Board of Directors may select; he shall sign all checks, notes, drafts, and orders for payment of money, which shall be countersigned by the President, and he shall pay out and dispose of the same under the direction of the President.

Section 7. Of Secretary. The Secretary shall keep the Minutes of the Association and such of the Minutes of the Board of Directors as the latter may desire; he shall attend to the giving and serving of all notices of the Association, and shall have charge of such books and papers as the Board of Directors may direct, and shall attend to such correspondence and perform such other work as may be assigned to him, and perform all the duties incidental to his office.

Of Assistant Secretary and Assistant Treasurer. An Assistant Secretary and an Assistant Treasurer, not necessarily members of Board, may be appointed by the Board.

Removal of Officers. Any officer may be removed by a two-thirds vote of the Charter members of the Association.

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1. Membership. The Association shall be composed of Charter members and Associate members.

Section 2. Charter Members. Charter members shall consist of those persons who originally enrolled themselves as members of the Association and those who may thereafter have been elected Charter members as herein provided. Charter members may be elected by the Association at any annual meeting or at a special meeting called for that purpose.

Only such persons as may be engaged in the business of book publishing, either on their own behalf or as members of co-partnerships or officers of corporations, shall be eligible to election as Charter members.

To secure equality of representation no person shall be eligible to Charter membership because of his connection in business with any firm or corporation from which a Charter member has already been selected.

In case of the absence or disability of a member selected from a firm or corporation, any other member of said firm or officer of said corporation when duly accredited thereby may act as proxy for such Charter member.

Section 3. Associate Members. Charter members may by a majority vote elect such persons as may apply for Associate membership. Only such persons as may be engaged in the business of book publishing, either on their own behalf or as members of co-partnership or officers of corporations, shall be eligible to election as Associate members.

Associate members shall be governed by these articles and by such resolutions and by-laws as may hereafter be passed, and shall be entitled to the privileges and benefits of the Association, but shall have no voice or vote as to the management thereof.

Section 4. Duties of Members. It shall be the duty of all members to strictly obey all the provisions of these articles as well as the resolutions and by-laws which may be passed from time to time, under penalty of removal from the Association as hereinafter provided.

ARTICLE V.

Section 1. Election of Charter Members. A candidate for Charter membership shall be proposed in writing by a Charter member and shall be recommended by two Charter members.

The election upon such nomination shall take place at the next regular meeting of the Association or at a special meeting thereof, if three of the members of the Board of Directors shall request a special meeting.

The Secretary shall mail, ten days before such nomination shall be acted on, to each member of the Association, the name of the candidate, his place of business, and the names of the proposer and seconders. Each Charter member shall be entitled to one vote, which in the case of members not residing in the City of New York may be given by letter. Election of members shall be taken by ballot in such manner as the Board of Directors may determine.

A two-thirds vote shall be necessary to elect a Charter member.

Section 2. Of Associate Members. Associate members shall be proposed in writing by one Charter member of the Association and seconded by two others. The Secretary shall send, ten days before the candidate shall be voted upon, to the members of the Association, the name of the candidate, his place of business, and the names of the proposer and seconders.

ARTICLE VI.

Section 1. Dues of Charter Members. Each Charter member shall pay on joining the Association the sum of fifty dollars ($50), and yearly thereafter on the first day of January the sum of fifty dollars ($50), as annual dues, but the Association by a two-thirds vote of the Charter members may assess the Charter members for any deficit or debt owed or incurred by the Association. Each Charter member shall contribute equally, and the amount so assessed, which however shall not exceed two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) in any year, shall then be payable within thirty days. In the event of the failure of any member to pay the same within said period, upon motion made, the Board of Directors shall declare the member so defaulting no longer a member. The Board of Directors shall have power by a two-thirds vote to reinstate the member so in default upon such terms as to it may seem best.

Section 2. Of Associate Members. Associate members shall pay the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25) at the time of joining the Association, and yearly thereafter, on the first day of January in each year, as annual dues; but the Association by a two-thirds vote of the Charter members may assess the Associate members for any deficit, debt owed or incurred by the Association, and for which the Charter members likewise have been or are to be assessed. Each class shall contribute its proportion of any and all assessments imposed, viz., the Charter members two-thirds thereof and the Associate members one-third thereof. Each Associate member shall contribute equally, and the amount so assessed, which however shall not exceed one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($125) in any year, shall then be payable within thirty years.

In the event of failure to pay the dues or sum so assessed within thirty days after notice, the member so defaulting shall ipso facto cease to be a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors shall have power, however, by a two-thirds vote, to reinstate the member so in default upon such terms as to it may seem best.

It is also understood and agreed that each member of the Association shall be subject to an action at law in the name of the President or of an Assignee of the Association for the sum so assessed against said member, and the statement of the grounds, particulars, and amount of such liability as made by the Board of Directors authenticated by the signature of the President and delivered to the party chargeable before suit shall be evidence of such liability as the statement of a mutual agent.

ARTICLE VII.

Penalties. If a member shall be charged in writing by any other member with a violation of any provision of these by-laws, or of any by-laws or resolutions which shall hereafter be adopted by this Association, or shall be charged in like manner with conduct prejudicial or inimical to its interests, or shall refuse to be governed by the acts of the Association within the scope of these articles as they may be defined by the Board of Directors, he shall by a ten days' notice in writing addressed to him at his place of business, as shown by the books of the Association, be summoned by the Board of Directors to appear before it to answer the charges so made.

The Board of Directors shall thereupon hear the charges and the accused member, if he presents himself, and if such charges shall be sustained, shall render its report thereon to the Association, at a special meeting called by the Board upon ten days' notice to the members of the Association.

The Association may then, by a majority vote of the Charter members then present, adopt or reject the report of the Board of Directors, or make such order or resolution in the premises as to it may seem proper and expedient.

The member so charged as aforesaid shall not be entitled to vote either at the meeting of the Board of Directors or at the meeting of the Association.

All rights of a member in the Association shall be suspended upon a finding by the Board of Directors that the said member is guilty as charged, and the right so suspended shall ipso facto cease and determine by an approval of the finding by the Association.

In the event that the Association should reverse or refuse to adopt the report of the Board of Directors, the rights of the accused member in the Association shall immediately be reinstated in full force and effect.

ARTICLE VIII.

Section 1. Meetings. The annual meeting of the Association shall be held on the second Wednesday in January in each and every year at the offices of the Association or at a place to be appointed by the Board of Directors in the City of New York.

Special meetings of the Association may be called by the President or upon the written request of five Charter members, or two-thirds of the Associate members. The request must state the matters to be presented at the meeting, and ten days' notice thereof stating the objects of the meeting must be given by the Secretary.

No other business than that specified in said notice shall be transacted at special meetings.

A majority of the Charter members (not less than nine) shall constitute a quorum.

Section 2. Board Meetings. Regular meetings of the Board of Directors shall be held on the second Wednesday of each month at the offices of the Association or at a place to be appointed by the Board of Directors.

Five members shall constitute a quorum. Special meetings may be called by the President on five days' notice to the members of the Board, or in the absence of the President by either Vice-President on the same notice.

ARTICLE IX.

Vacancies. In case of the resignation, death, or disability of any officer of the Association, the Board of Directors shall be authorized to elect from its members an officer to fill the unexpired term of the officer so deceased. In case of the death, resignation, disability, or termination of right upon the Board of Directors under Article 2, Section 4, hereof, the Board may, by a majority vote, elect from the Charter members of the Association a member to fill the unexpired term of the member whose term has been terminated as above.

In case of the death, resignation, disability, or termination of interest in the firm or of office in the corporation, which connection rendered the member of said firm or officer of said corporation eligible to Charter membership, any other member of said firm or officer of said corporation proposed and elected to charter membership shall ipso facto become a member of the Board of Directors to fill the unexpired term of the said member so dying, resigning, or whose right to sit as a member of said Board has terminated, as above provided.

In case of the death of an individual member of this Association, leaving no successors in said business, all right of membership herein shall cease and determine. In the event, however, of the continuance of the business by any successor, such successor to the business shall be entitled, upon subscribing to the Articles of the Association, to the same membership as had the party so deceased.

ARTICLE X.

Section 1. Order of Business. At all meetings of the Association and of the Board of Directors the following shall be the order of business:

Calling of the Roll.
Reading of Minutes.
Proposals of Membership.
Reports of Officers.
Reports of Committees.
Reading of Communications.
Unfinished Business.
Miscellaneous Business.

ARTICLE XI.

Death of Member, Effect of. Neither the death nor legal incapacity of any member of this Association shall work a dissolution of this Association, but the same shall continue as if no death, incapacity, or disability had taken place.

ARTICLE XII.

Use of Association Name or Credit. No member of the Board of Directors or any member of the Association shall use or employ the money, credit, or name of the Association, except when authorized so to do by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE XIII.

Construction. The construction of these by-laws and the rules and regulations of the Association shall be a part of the duties of the Board of Directors, and the construction determined by the Board shall be final, not only as to the meaning of the articles, but also what may or may not be within the scope thereof.

ARTICLE XIV.

Committees. The Board of Directors may appoint from the members of the Association such Committees and with such powers and for such purposes as to it may seem expedient and proper.

ARTICLE XV.

Amendments. Amendments to these articles may be proposed in writing at any regular or special meeting of the Association, and must then be submitted to the Charter members in writing, and voted upon at the next regular or special meeting, but not sooner than thirty days from the time of submission.

A two-thirds vote of the Charter members of the Association shall be necessary to pass an amendment.

CONNECTICUT STATUTE LAWS.

Mr. Bates's work on the "Connecticut Statute Laws"* may be considered as one of the most important special bibliographies published in recent years, which, notwithstanding the modest disclaimer on the part of its author, is surprisingly complete and well done. The session acts and laws of almost all the colonies are hard nuts, bibliographically speaking, to crack; according to Mr. Bates, those of Connecticut seem to have been specially difficult to deal with; in no collection is there a perfect series of session acts, and at the time Mr. Bates began to make inquiries "apparently no one knew what issues constituted a complete set, or what reprints or contemporary unofficial issues had been published." Out of the endeavors to clear up these points this bibliography has grown as a substantial basis from which to pursue further research in the same field.

The plan of the author has been to group his material under four heads: Public Acts and Laws, arranged chronologically from 1672-'73 to 1837; Special Acts and Resolves, 1758 to 1814; New Haven's Settling, 1656-1858; and Parliamentary Acts Reprinted. The titles are given in full, line for line, and whenever necessary a descriptive note is added. To avoid needless repetition, Mr. Bates, in many cases abbreviates titles, marking the omissions by inserting periods or dots; but nevertheless, these titles may be also considered as "line-titles," which enable the reader to pursue carefully a critical collation of a copy with a view of ascertaining its completeness or status. In his notes the author, unfortunately, kept close to the bibliography of the subject, and resisted the temptation to make divagations into the bypaths of the history and romance of the subject. Of his ability to treat these phases of the subject he gives glimpses in his preface.

Mr. Bates to facilitate research has noted as far as possible the location of a copy of each issue in three different public collections, giving preference first to the Connecticut State Library, the Connecticut Historical Society, and the Yale College Library; second to other libraries within the State of Connecticut, and third to libraries in other States. Where no copies were found in public libraries, collations have been given in a few cases from private collections, but without giving the names of the owners.

The typographical get-up of the book is sumptuous—the type being large, the printing clear, and the paper of excellent quality.

A few notes concerning the personality of the author of this remarkably fine piece of bibliographic work may not be out of place in this connection. Mr. Bates, who is a descendant of James Bate, of Lydd, Kent County, Eng., who settled in Dorchester, Mass., in 1635, was born at East Granby, Conn., in 1865. He attended the Connecticut Literary Institution, a college preparatory school, at Suffield, Conn., for three years, being graduated in 1885. The following years he spent in the uncongenial task of farming at his home. After holding several town offices, including that of town clerk, he entered, May 2, 1892, the employ of the Connecticut Historical Society, of which he became a member in 1889, enjoying the distinction of being the youngest member ever admitted to the Society up to that time. He was elected librarian of the Society January 1, 1893, and recording secretary May 26, 1896, which positions he holds at present. He is also a member of the Society's Committee on Membership and on Publication; a member of the Connecticut Commission of Public Records, a preliminary commission of three appointed by the Governor in 1900 under act of the General Assembly; adjunct member representing Connecticut, of the American Historical Association Public Archives Commission; also, a member, since its organization, of the Connecticut Sons of the American Revolution. Mr. Bates was interested, even before his connection with the Connecticut Historical Society, in antiquarian and historical matters, records, etc., especially in local history. He is the author of "Historical Notes on the Probate Districts of Connecticut," published in the "Annual Report of the Connecticut Historical Society for 1897," (23 p., 8°;) "Connecticut Almanacs of Last Century," descriptive and bibliographic, published in Connecticut Quarterly, v. 4, no. 4, (9 p., il.;) and "The Connecticut Gore Land Co.," published in the "Annual Report of the American Historical Association for 1898," (Washington, 1899, 24 p., 8°.) He copied and published "Records of Rev. Roger Viets, rector of St. Andrews, Simsbury, Conn., 1763-1800." (Hartford, 1893, 84 p., 8°;) "Rev. Dudley Woodbridge his church record at Simsbury in Connecticut, 1697-1710," (Hartford, 1894, 32 p., 8°;) and "Simsbury, Conn., births, marriages and deaths, from the town records," [1675-1832,] (Hartford, 1898, 345 p., 8°.) Among the half dozen books that Mr. Bates has seen through the press the more important was the "Year-book of the Connecticut Society of the Sons of the American Revolution for 1893 and 1894," in co-laboration with Frank B. Gay. He is also the editor of the publications issued by the Acorn Club of Connecticut, a society formed for the purpose of issuing, either as original publications or as reprints, rare books, prints and manuscripts, especially those relating to Connecticut. The Secretary of the Club, to whom orders for Mr. Bates's bibliography of the "Connecticut Statute Laws" may be sent is W. N. C. Carlton of Hartford.

THE BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR?

According to a cable despatch to the New York Sun, the London Academy recently asked a number of well-known men to name the two books which they had read in 1900 with the most interest and pleasure. Frederic Harrison said the only first-class book of 1900 was Hewlett's "Richard Yea-and-Nay"; I. Zangwill named Anthony Hope's "Quisanté" and Stephen Phillips's "Herod"; Sir R. S. Ball, the "Life of Archbishop Benson, by His Son" and Mary Cholmondeley's "Red Pottage"; Dr. Parker, "Robert Orange" and Marie Corelli's "Master Christian"; Arthur Pinero, "Huxley's Life and Letters," and Beatrice Marshall's "Emma Marshall." Of thirty-two answers only two mentioned American writers. Max Beerbohm named Henry James's "Soft Side of Life," and Richard Pryce Annie Wakeman's "Autobiography of a Charwoman." The result of the investigation is astonishing and mixed, to say the least.

OBITUARY NOTES.

The Rev. Cyrus Augustus Bartol, D.D., for upward of fifty years minister of the West Church of Boston, (Unitarian,) died December 16, in Boston. He was born in Freeport, Me., April 30, 1813. He graduated at the Harvard Divinity School in 1835. He had been preaching but little over a year when the West Church called him as Dr. Lowell's colleague. This relation held till the death of Dr. Lowell, in 1861, when Dr. Bartol became sole pastor. Dr. Bartol's publications include many sermons in pamphlet form and several volumes of sermons and essays—"Church and Congregation;" "Radical Problems;" "The Rising Faith;" "Principles and Portraits," etc.

Oswald Ottendorfer, since 1858 editor and publisher of the New York Staats-Zeitung, died on December 14. Ottendorfer was born February 26, 1826, in Zwittau, Austria. While at the University in Vienna he identified himself with the Revolutionary movements that swept over Europe in 1848. Sentenced to death for high treason, for his participation in the insurrection at Vienna, he made his way to Saxony, then to Switzerland, and in 1850 to New York. He was penniless and friendless. His first employment was as a laborer in a factory; then he found work in a soda-water factory. In 1851 he secured a position in the office of the Staats-Zeitung. In the following year the proprietor, Jacob Uhl, died, and his widow took charge of the paper, and afterwards Mr. Ottendorfer married Mrs. Uhl. In 1858 Mr. Ottendorfer was made editor-in-chief.

MICHAEL G. MULHALL, the statistician, died in London on the 12th inst. He was born in Dublin, in 1836, and was educated at the Irish College in Rome. In 1861 he founded The Buenos Ayres Standard, the first English daily newspaper printed in South America. He became widely known in later years through his efforts to popularize the knowledge of statistics of the growth of trade and population. He was a frequent contributor to The Contemporary Review and to English scientific journals. His principal works are: "The Progress of the World," 1880; "Dictionary of Statistics," 1886, and "Industries and Wealth of Nations," 1896. What a degree of accuracy his scientific method enabled him to attain was shown by his forecast in the North American Review for July, 1890, of the recent census of the United States. His estimate of the population was 76,200,000. The actual number returned in the official report was 76,295,000.

JOSEPH C. HEYWOOD, an American man of letters of no mean fame though of much greater distinction, died recently at Rome, Italy. He was born in Cumberland County, Maine. He spent eight years at Cambridge, where he took the degrees of A. B., LL.B., and A. M. in regular course at Harvard University. On leaving Cambridge he read law at the office of F. B. Cutting in New York, and was duly admitted to the bar, after which he practiced law in New York until 1869, when he went to Europe. After his return to New York, he occupied himself in writing dramatic criticism and literary studies, principally for the New York Sun. In 1876 he went to Philadelphia and a year later he went to Europe with his bride, and in 1878 settled in Rome, where he came into possession of the famous historic Torlonia palace, once the property of Henry VII. and Henry VIII. of England. His first serious literary essay, a review of President Dyer's "Constitutional Jurisprudence," was published in the North American Review, April 1858. In 1862 G. P. Putnam published his "Salome, the Daughter of Herodias." Five years later Hurd & Houghton issued a new edition of the work under the title of "Herodias," together with two new dramatic poems entitled "Antonius" and "Salome." "How Will it End," a novel, was published by J. B. Lippincott & Co. in 1872, and in 1877 the same firm published a collection of his critical studies under the title of "How They Strike Me, These Authors." In 1883 Kegan Paul & Co., London, published his "Sforza, a tragedy in verse," and in 1884-85, a revised edition of the "Herodian or Salomean Trilogy." Early in 1891 Burns & Oates, London, published his "Lady Merton, a tale of the Eternal City," and a little later a revised edition of his dramatic poems. Mr. Heywood also had the distinction of having created the largest library which had been formed in the Third Rome.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE Bibliographical Society of Chicago has issued a year-book, 1899-1900, as a neatly printed pamphlet of 44 pages. It contains, in addition to the usual constitution, by-laws, membership lists, etc., three papers on bibliographical subjects—"Some recent events and tendencies in bibliography," by C. H. Hastings; "General and national bibliographies," by W. S. Merrill; and "Some suggestions concerning the needs and methods of historical bibliography," by J. W. Thompson. The society was organized in October, 1899. Camillo von Klenze, of the University of Chicago, is president; and Aksel G. S. Josephson, of John Crerar Library, is secretary.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co., Chicago, have published a portly "Illustrated Catalogue of Books, standard and holiday, 1900-1901," intended for the trade. The volume contains 938 octavo pages devoted to miscellaneous books and booklets, illustrated with pictures from the leading books. To this section is added a catalogue of Bibles, Testaments, Episcopal prayer books and hymnals, Catholic prayer books, pulpit and family Bibles, covering 140 pages. The contents of the whole catalogue are made easily accessible by a full index covering 182 pages of small type in two columns. Altogether, the catalogue is a creditable piece of work. (1260 p. 8°, pap., 50 c.)

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD, Minneapolis, Minn., has just published a work entitled "Lincoln Literature,"* compiled by its secretary, Daniel Fish. The work had its origin in the wish of the compiler to form and possess a respectable collection of Lincoln literature, and grew out of his efforts to ascertain of what such a collection should consist. The list embraces only such publications as, broadly speaking, may be called literature, to the exclusion of some other things in printed form classed as Lincolniana. Single page prints, portraits, cartoons, badges, cards, posters, broadsides and the like, interesting as they may be, find no place in the list; neither is it attempted to present an index to all that may seem to belong legitimately to the subject. as for instance newspaper and periodical literature for which, very properly it seems, the author thinks the references in Poole's indexes should suffice until some one shall give to them more particular attention. The list therefore deals exclusively with books and pamphlets, including in the latter class everything that approaches to the dignity of the brochure. And it embraces only such of these as pertain wholly or chiefly to the man, his acts and utterances, his character and services, his life and death. The utmost simplicity of bibliographic treatment has been preferred by the compiler. In most instances (always when practicable,) the title-page has been transcribed entire, and such other information given as will make the identification of the publication easy and certain. Occasional notes and cross references are introduced for the same reason. Within the limits deliberately set by the compiler the work will be found comprehensive and useful to every library and collector interested in the subject. The get-up is clear and attractive.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

WILBUR B. KETCHAM, New York, has just published new editions of "Lectures and Sermons," by the Rev. W. Morley Punshon, and "The Parables of Our Lord," by Dr. Marcus Dods.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have in press in Heath's Modern Language Series, Schiller's "Das Lied von der Glocke," edited with concise notes and a complete vocabulary by Professor W. A. Chamberlain of Denison University.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce that the first edition of "Oriental Rugs," by John Kimberly Mumford was exhausted within a week after publication. Owing to the time necessary in the color-plate work, the second edition cannot be ready much before February.

W. J. BRYAN, the defeated candidate for the Presidency, will establish in Lincoln, Neb., a weekly newspaper to be entitled The Commoner, which "will defend the principles set forth in the Kansas City platform." The first issue will appear in January. Mr. Bryan will be proprietor as well as editor.

SURGEON-GENERAL WEYMAN, of the United States Marine Hospital Service, denounces a publication published in New York City under the title of "United States Health Reports," as having no official recognition from the Government. The Surgeon-General is taking steps to have the publication suppressed.

THE marvellous popularity of "Eben Holden," by Irving Bacheller, is shown by the record of its latest sales. In a single day—Thursday, December 13—the sales exceeded 13,000 copies, while the five business days, from December 8 to December 13 showed total sales by the Lothrop Publishing Company of 33,000 copies of this story.

THE BLUE SKY PRESS (Langworthy & Stevens,) Woodlawn Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, Chicago, have in press a volume of verse about Omar Khayyam, with initials by Frank B. Rae, Jr. The book will be printed on a good linen paper in an edition of 600 copies, of which 100 will have the initials illuminated by hand. A few copies will be printed on vellum, also with illuminated initials.

COINCIDENT with the production of the dramatization of "Janice Meredith" comes the announcement of the publication of a Mary Mannering Edition of the novel. The volume will be very fully illustrated with illustrations in color, and with half-tone reproductions of scenes from the play as produced by Miss Mannering. The story in this form should find a wide sale among theatre-goers as well as among novel-readers.

PAUL R. REYNOLDS, a broker in manuscripts, has filed a suit in the Supreme Court against L. C. Page & Co., of Boston, to recover $675 for an alleged breach of a contract to purchase from him the American book rights to W. Clark Russell's story, "The Ship's Adventure." Although the amount involved in the suit is small, the case raises some novel questions of interest to authors and publishers. L. C. Page & Co., by their counsel, denied that they entered into any contract with the plaintiff, and asserted that it was their purpose to test the several legal questions presented by vigorously opposing the plaintiff's action.

PROFESSOR A. CAMPBELL FRASER has been long engaged on a new edition of the complete works of Bishop Berkeley, including posthumous works, all arranged in chronological order. He has thoroughly revised and recast his large octavo edition of the works, published in three octavo volumes at the Clarendon Press in 1871, and now out of print. The introductions and notes have been practically rewritten, and a brief new biography will be prefixed. All fresh materials that have come to light within the last thirty years have been incorporated throughout; and this may be regarded as the final Oxford edition of the Irish philosopher—so important a factor in the development of modern thought in Europe, and in America, with which his name is closely associated—who spent his last days in Oxford, and lies buried in its Cathedral Church. Professor Campbell Fraser's book will be published in four crown octavo volumes, early in 1901.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY last week sold ten thousand copies of Ralph Connor's western story, "Black Rock," of which the 75th thousand is now on the market. The author's "Sky Pilot" is selling in its 50th thousand. It has been made known before that "Ralph Connor" is the Rev. Charles W. Gordon, of Winnipeg. Discouraged over the appropriation that had been made by a certain missionary committee for work in the mining camps of western Canada, he went disheartened, to the editor of The Westminster, a weekly published in Toronto. This editor, an old college mate, told him to wage his campaign for the mission funds through his columns. "Yes, I'll write you an article," said Gordon. "No," replied the editor, "do it in the form of a story." Mr. Gordon had lived among the people he wanted to help, so was able to tell of them with perfect confidence and fidelity. That is how "Black Rock" came to be written. Mr. Gordon's pseudonym was to be "Cannor," which was misread by the editor as Connor, to which, on his own responsibility, he prefixed Ralph, and so created "Ralph Connor."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents a line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

TO THE TRADE.

BRENTANO'S have published promptly as previously announced, by EDMOND ROSTAND, in French: the sole edition to be obtained in the United States. Paper, $1.00, net; cloth, $1.50, net. In view of the long engagement of Sarah Bernhardt and her appearance in the play as well as the production of an English version by Maude Adams, the demand for this work in French has been unusual; and in stores not hitherto keeping any French books, the call has been constant and large. This interest we have reason to believe, in view of the great merit of the play and its permanent value as literature, warrants us in recommending the trade to keep in stock regularly at least a few copies. Brentano's are also publishers of the sole authorized edition of translated from the French of Carolus, of which the fourth large edition is now in press. This must not be confused with Rostand's great play, but it will be of interest to those who anticipate seeing the performance. It is a charming story, charmingly told. The central figure is that most pathetic character in history—the King of Rome, son of Napoleon I.

L'AIGLON,

The trade will find it profitable to keep a few copies. Order through jobber or direct from

31 Union Square, New York.

THE

American Catalogue

Author-and-Title Alphabet; Part II: K-Z.

THE new volume of the American Catalogue covers books recorded from July 1, 1895, to January 1, 1900, including books with the imprint 1900 issued within 1899, and also books of 1899 recorded after January 1, 1900. The work will be completed with Subject Alphabet, Part III, in the first part of 1901. The first alphabet contains 550 pages, as compared with 498 pages in the 1890-1895 volume, and the subject alphabet will contain approximately 275 pages as compared with 251 pages. Appendixes for Government Publications, State Publications, and Publications of Societies, now otherwise provided for, will not be given in this volume.

The edition, as before, is limited, so that orders should be placed promptly in advance. The price to advance subscribers will be, as heretofore, $10 in sheets or $12.50 in half morocco, to be raised after publication to $12.50 in sheets and $15 in half morocco. Subscribers should designate whether they wish the work forwarded in parts or delivered complete. The fact that most of the previous volumes are out of print and selling at extra price suggests the value of investment in this completing volume of the present series.

298 Broadway, New York

The Perfection Series

OF CLOTH-BOUND BOOKS at FIFTY CENTS each

Published by STREET & SMITH, 238 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK CITY

In presenting the Perfection Series to the public, we are aiming to make the line all that its title would imply —the most perfect line of books that can be produced to retail at fifty cents. In fact, these are dollar books in everything but price. An examination of the titles which follow will convince you of the merit of the works. The authors are well known and represent the most popular and successful of modern writers. Comment upon their popularity and fame is unnecessary, as they are all so prominently in the public eye that the reader who is up with the times is familiar with their names. Books in this series are all bound uniformly well and are the best value ever given to the public in a series of works retailing at fifty cents.

In ordering these by mail add eight cents extra per copy for postage.

The Best Selling Book in America

Eben Holden

By IRVING BACHELLER

200th THOUSAND

"The marvellous success of 'Eben Holden' is as much a compliment to the great American public as to the author. . . . 'Eben Holden' is a true book; it is pre-eminently a story of Americans for Americans. We have long heard calls for what should be the great American novel; here we have the nearest approach to it. In American literature we have now a perfect representation of a typical American character."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Says The MAIL AND EXPRESS:

"It is convincing. Furthermore, it is a novel of episode. The story has the great merit of being original in subject, strongly dramatic, and constantly moving. It is a book that one reads with unflagging interest."
